

1789 Statistical Census of Mennonites in West Prussia

Extracted by Rod Ratzlaff

Modified by Glenn H Penner

gpenner@uoguelpg.ca

This census is only a village by village count of fathers, mothers, sons, daughters, male servants and female servants in the Mennonite households of West Prussia. It contains no names. The extraction has been condensed down to a spreadsheet, for statistical purposes, and the village names have been converted to those consistent with the Westpreussisches Ortsverzeichnis found here Familienforschung in Westpreußen - Ortsverzeichnis \(westpreussen.de\) and the list of “Mennonite” West Prussian villages found here: West Prussian Mennonite Villages 2020.pdf \(mennonitegenealogy.com\).

There are 37 location names for which are duplicated or triplicated. Some of these are known to be different villages found in different districts, but at least 30 of these are not. Of those a few may have been villages split between administrative districts. For example, it is known that Neustaedterwald was split between the Tiegenhof and Elbing districts.
